In this issue we explore Credit Union Kids Month, current financial news, promotions, and more!

APRIL IS KIDS MONTH

Every April, credit unions celebrate kids month to focus on fun and financial education. Since money skills are learned and absorbed at an early age, here are some tips to share with your kiddos or grandkids.

Play Games that Involve Money

One of the best ways to teach a lesson is by doing so without your child realizing they're learning. Play games that include a financial component like our Ace Jr. app, Monopoly, or Life, and help them learn to strategize their spending.

Open a Youth Savings Account

Opening up a savings account in your child's name and including them when making deposits, will build conscious savings habits.

Take 'em Grocery Shopping

When at the grocery store, give them a $10 budget for snacks or items they really want. Allow them to pick and narrow down choices to stay within budget.

Lastly, starting financial literacy with your kiddos will help them grow up with good money habits.

CURRENT PROMOTIONS

A STATEMENT ABOUT RECENT FINANCIAL NEWS

As your credit union, we are closely monitoring current events in the news. We assure you that SWACU is financially sound and strong. We are honored that you place your trust in us to keep your money safe, and we take that responsibility very seriously.

We understand that banking can be a complex and sometimes confusing business, which is why we are committed to providing our members with clear and transparent information about their accounts and transactions.

SWACU is a member of the National Credit Union Administration (NCUA), meaning that your deposit funds are federally insured for up to $250,000, per individual, via the National Credit Union Share Insurance Fund (NCUSIF). If your account has a joint owner or beneficiary, you may be eligible for additional coverage. For more information, visit MyCreditUnion.gov.

SWACU has taken a conservative growth approach that has kept us strong through economic highs and lows, meaning we maintain capital well above regulatory requirements. In addition, we are annually reviewed by the NCUA and ensure our internal controls, risk management processes, and policies are robust and effective.

We know that you have many options when it comes to banking, and we are grateful that you have chosen SWACU as your financial partner. We remain committed to providing you with the highest safety, security, and service levels. Just remember, your money isn't safer at a big bank than it is here at SWACU.

If you have any questions or concerns about your account, please feel free to call us at (800) 262-5325.
